2. [] notes that the principal change to the previously approved requirements is in paragraph 5. a. where the need to maintain coverage of Route Package I and the DMZ is specified as opposed to selected indication targets and the DMZ. He explains that this change could in the future have a marked effect on the level of reconnaissance summarized by COMIREX in its analysis of systems available during a truce (reference b.).

3. This revision of national requirements for overhead imagery reconnaissance of North Vietnam during a truce was proposed by DIA ILLEGIB after coordination with the JCS and has been approved by COMIREX. The Committee in submitting this revision also notes that the CCPC has been charged in reference c. with developing a comprehensive intelligence plan for the Vietnam theater under either a total bombing halt or a general cease fire. Recognizing that these different conditions could result in a need for COMIREX to provide an entirely new statement of requirements within its responsibility, [Redacted] comments that it is possible that, after the Board has studied the CCPC paper, a further revision may be in order.
